

How to use Films on Demand in D2L Brightspace

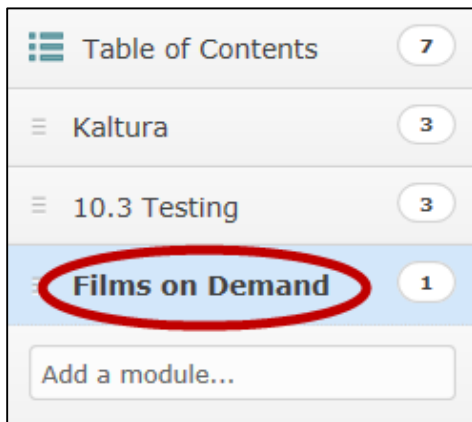

GALILEO Films on Demand allows faculty to search for Films on Demand videos from within D2L Brightspace and embed them in courses. Films on Demand offers thousands of videos in science, humanities, social sciences, business, health, and careers. Films on Demand videos can be inserted in D2L using the Insert Stuff button. Note: Students will not be required to log in again to view these videos.

Follow the steps below to search for Films on Demand Videos and embed them in your course content.

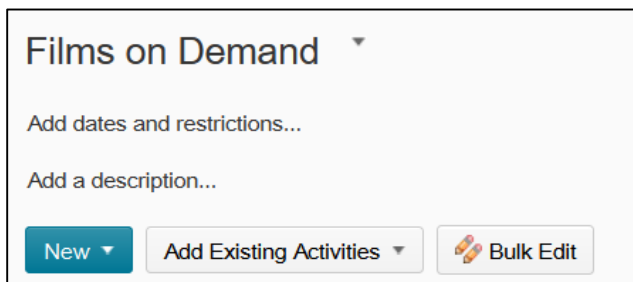

1. In D2L Brightspace, navigate to your course.
2. Click Content.

3. Select a module or create a new one.

4. Click the New button.

5. Select Create a File from the Menu.

6. Enter a Title (required).

7. Within the Text Editor, click the Insert Stuff button on the toolbar. The Insert Stuff window will appear.

8. From the menu on the left, select Films on Demand.

9. Type your search term(s) in the Films on Demand Search field.

10. Click the Search button. The results will appear.

11. Once you locate a video, you can preview the video by clicking the Preview link on the right.

12. You may be prompted to allow access to the media. Click Allow.

13. When you are ready to embed a video, click the Embed button. A preview of the video will appear.

The screenshot shows the Films On Demand search interface. At the top, there is a search bar with the text 'technology' and a search button. Below the search bar, it says 'Total Results: 2080'. There are navigation buttons for 'Prev', '1', '2', '3', '...', '103', '104', and 'Next'. On the right side, there are dropdown menus for 'View By: Segments', 'Sort By: Relevance', and 'Filter By: Subject'. A video result is displayed with a thumbnail image of a man at a computer. The title is 'Technology: More or Less Time for Life?' and the subtitle is 'From Title: Time Frenzy: Keeping Up with Tomorrow'. A red box highlights the 'Embed' button next to the video title. Below the title, there is a 'Preview' link and a short description: 'Ironically, the new computer-driven technology, which was supposed to save people time, has caused them to become obsessed with not wasting time. Computers increasingly dictate the way people spend their lives and time.'

14. Click the Insert button. The video will be placed within the Text Editor window.

The screenshot shows the 'Insert Stuff' dialog box. On the left side, there is a list of sources: 'My Computer', 'Course Offering Files', 'YouTube', 'Flickr', 'Insert Link', 'Enter Embed Code', and 'Films On Demand'. The 'Films On Demand' option is selected. On the right side, there is a preview window titled 'Films On Demand Properties'. The preview window shows a video player with a play button in the center. The video title is 'Technology: More or Less Time for Life?' and the subtitle is 'From Title: Time Frenzy: Keeping Up with Tomorrow'. The video player shows a scene of a busy highway with many cars. Below the video player, there is a progress bar and a 'Length: 2:35' indicator. At the bottom of the dialog box, there are three buttons: 'Insert', 'Back', and 'Cancel'. A red arrow points to the 'Insert' button.

15. Click Publish. The video will be posted to the module.
